Supermodel Naomi Campbell and sports car manufacturer Lotus join forces for Haiti

In response to the horrific natural disaster that has crippled the nation of Haiti, Naomi Campbell together with Lotus Cars will be auctioning eight special edition "Naomi for Haiti" Lotus Evora sports cars, with the proceeds from the auction going to help the relief effort in Haiti.

The Lotus Evora is a very desirable, multi-award winning, high performance, mid-engine sports car that presents a fantastic piece of design to bid on. The "Naomi for Haiti" Evora sports car has been specially designed by Lotus Design Director Donato Coco and reflects Naomi's design direction. The bespoke styling combines the flag of Haiti with a dramatic color scheme and the cars include a full range of options, meaning these cars will all become desirable collectors' items.

The "Naomi for Haiti" Evoras will be auctioned at Naomi Campbell's Fashion for Relief™ charity fashion show on February 18th at the London Fashion Week venue at Somerset House. The remaining "Naomi for Haiti" Evoras will be entered into an auction run on the "Naomi for Haiti" website www.naomiforhaiti.com and bidding will commence at 0800 GMT on the February 19th and will end at 1200 noon GMT on February 28, 2010.

The grand total raised for the charity and the highest bidders will be announced by Naomi Campbell at the Geneva Motor Show on the March 2, 2010. There will also be a link to the "Naomi for Haiti" website from the Lotus Cars website <http://www.grouplotus.com/cars/home.html>.

The Fashion for Relief™ event has selected to support the White Ribbon Alliance as it campaigns for the health needs and rights of women and girls around the world, especially supporting its partners in Haiti at this time to rebuild the healthcare system for mothers and babies.

Naomi Campbell says, "I am deeply saddened by the recent tragedy in Haiti. So many have been killed and severely affected by the earthquake - women and children in particular are most vulnerable in disasters. Fashion is universal, personal and touches everyone. I am delighted that Lotus Cars is supporting my Fashion for Relief™ charity and I am sure with such generous help we will raise crucial funds to help save the lives of women and children."

Dany Bahar, CEO of Group Lotus Plc, stated, "It is a very admirable cause and we are proud to be supporting Naomi Campbell with her Fashion for Relief™ event in aid of the women and children affected by the terrible disaster in Haiti. The whole of Lotus is supporting this very deserving charity, with many working in their own time in order to raise money for the women and children affected by the earthquake in Haiti."

The Red Cross has said that the earthquake in Haiti has affected approximately 3 million people and it is reported that upwards of 200,000 people have died in the disaster. The magnitude of the earthquake combined with the local geography and house building techniques has exacerbated the destruction.

About Fashion for Relief™

Fashion for Relief™ was set up four years ago to demonstrate the kind of contributions the fashion community can make, the first Fashion for Relief™ show was held in 2005 in New York City during their fashion week, and raised more than $1 million for the Hurricane Katrina relief. In 2007 the event, held in London, raised an amazing GBP 1 million for the Rotary Flood & Disaster Appeal.

In 2008, Naomi teamed up with Sarah Brown for the first time to host an unforgettable Fashion for Relief™ raising thousands for The White Ribbon Alliance and raising awareness of the charity. Last year Fashion for Relief™ traveled to Mumbai, India and Dar Es Salaam, Tanzania.

Past participants and supporters include: Beyonce, Boy George, Cheryl Cole, Cilla Black, Christian Slater, Claudia Schiffer, Erin O'Connor, Faye Dunaway, Iman, Jamelia, Jessica Stam, Kate Moss, Yasmin Le Bon, Ronan Keating, Kelly Osbourne, Lily Cole, P. Diddy, Princess Beatrice, Rio Ferdinand, The Duchess of York, Joaquin Cortes, Tyson Beckford and many more.

Haiti is the poorest country in the western hemisphere - where 37,000 pregnant women now face birth in dangerous, unsanitary conditions - White Ribbon Alliance's partner organization International Planned Parenthood Federation (IPPF) is currently struggling to meet the overwhelming need for basic healthcare services. IPPF's clinics, which are based in the communities most affected by the earthquake, have been severely damaged. Despite this, they are operating a number of health clinics from tents, with additional mobile bus clinics from the Dominican Republic into Haiti. Such is the huge need that they are desperately short of staff, medical supplies and diesel fuel. In crisis situations, women and children's health needs and physical safety are at much greater risk; we need your help to address the short term needs and the long term consequences.
